City Will Celebrate Its 50th Anniversary

Mayor Crane Adopts Suggestion Made by City Historian A. T. Clearwater, and Will Later Appoint Committee—A Union Service to be Held Sunday, April 2.

Mayor Walter P. Crane has decided to adopt the suggestion made to him by Judge A. T. Clearwater, city historian, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of Kingston as a city at a union meeting to be held Sunday evening, April 2, in this city. Mayor Crane will later appoint a committee of arrangements composed of the clergy of the city.

The committee to be appointed will ask the permission of the board of education to hold the meeting in the auditorium of the high school.

Kingston was incorporated as a city on March 29, 1872, but Judge Clearwater in his letter to Mayor Crane suggested that the date of the celebration be fixed as April 2. Judge Clearwater's letter to Mayor Crane reads as follows:

My Dear Mr. Mayor:

Kingston was incorporated as a city on the 29th day of March, 1872, and the 29th of this month will bring the fiftieth anniversary of that important event.

Last year when the suggestion of opening the unfinished Rondout Creek Bridge to a traffic that could not then possibly cross it first was made, I called the attention of the city authorities to the approaching anniversary, and diffidently suggested that as the opening with great ceremony of an incomplete bridge, with one bridge head blocked by several hundred feet of solid rock, not only would be abortive, but might place the city in a somewhat ridiculous position in the estimation of the great world outside the city limits, that the opening be deferred until its completion, and that of the roadway on the Esopus side, and that with such an opening there be united a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the city's incorporation, saying also that as in this latitude the weather in March not infrequently was unpropitious, it might be well to postpone the entire function until Decoration Day when undoubtedly both the bridge and the roadway would be in a shape to reflect credit upon the state, and greatly so upon the city and the town of Esopus.

For reasons perfectly well understood, and therefore unnecessary here to discuss, that suggestion was disregarded.

I do not think our people at this time would welcome a civic ceremonial.

So important an anniversary in the life of so historic and patriotic a community as Kingston should not, however, pass entirely unnoticed, and therefore with the fare of my previous suggestion in mind, it is with hesitant diffidence that I beg to suggest to you the propriety of requesting the clergymen and the congregations of the city, regardless of denominational differences, on the evening of the Sunday succeeding the 29th of March, to unite in returning thanks to Almighty God for preserving us from the ravages of pestilence, the devastation of cyclonic storms and of fire, and for the unnumbered blessings he has showered upon us individually and collectively during the last fifty years.

I am, Sir, Respectfully,
A. T. CLEARWATER,
Historian of Kingston.

MAY ASK HARDING WHO WROTE PACT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 10.—The perplexing question of "who wrote the four power Pacific treaty," continued to vex senators opposed to the pact.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, suggested that the moot question of its authorship promised to become as famous a conundrum as "how old is Ann?"

Reed was among the senators fighting its ratification who declared that, notwithstanding the statement of a high state department official that "who wrote it does not matter," the senate was entitled to know who did draft it before being called upon to approve it.

It is intimated that a resolution calling upon President Harding to inform the senate as to who wrote the treaty, probably would be launched in the senate as a sequel to the state department's refusal to reveal its author or authors, and to the joint admission of Senators Lodge and Underwood, as members of the American delegation to the armament conference that they do not know whose work it was.

VAN WAGENEN ON COMMITTEE

Which Will Investigate High Tax Rates in Cities Which Offset State Economies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 10.—(Special.)—Assemblyman Van Wageningen of Kingston, has been made a member of a sub-committee on taxation which will investigate during the legislative recess the question of higher rates of taxation in the municipalities than in the state.

Governor Miller pointed out in a public document early in the year, that the high rates of taxation in many localities acted as a drag upon the efforts of the state to reduce expenses.

Assemblyman Van Wageningen said today that as yet he had not been fully advised as to the summer plan of the sub-committee on taxation and retrenchment and that he expected to hear from Senator Frederick M. Davenport, chairman of the joint legislative committee some word concerning this in the near future.

D. N. Mathews To Retire From Firm of F. B. Matthews & Co. at End of Year—Has Had Long and Successful Business Career—Will Devote Self to Other Big Interests But Try and Find More Leisure.

D. N. Mathews who has been connected with the firm of F. B. Matthews & Company since its incorporation, will retire from the firm on January 1, 1923, having disposed of his interest to other members of the firm.

Mr. Mathews has been identified with this firm since its organization in 1899 and formerly was a very successful merchant at West Shokan, N. Y. When New York city took over the property at that place for reservoir purposes, he removed to Kingston and became an active member of the present firm, serving as vice president for a time and later on as secretary and treasurer. To Mr. Mathews's keen business foresight and untiring efforts is due, to a large extent, the success of the firm, which has grown during this time to one of the largest. If not the largest, wholesale grocery house in the Hudson river valley. The position of secretary and treasurer, now held by Mr. Mathews, will probably fall to John W. Matthews, the present vice president, while Frank R. Matthews will remain at the head of the firm as president and general manager.

This release from duty will permit Mr. Mathews to devote more of his time to the affairs of the State of New York National Bank, of which he has been a director since 1887. At that time, the board of directors consisted of 15 members and Mr. Mathews together with Myron Teller of the firm of Teller and Tappan are the only two members of that board now living. Mr. Mathews became president of this bank in 1905 and has remained since that time. Under his guidance as president, together with the efficient services of the late Joseph M. Schaeffer, as cashier, this bank has come into the front and foremost line of banks in eastern New York and has been remarkably successful.

Mr. Mathews will probably retain an office at the old firm where he has for so many years devoted so much of his time, and will have a friendly interest in the continued success of the firm. He will also retain his interest in the Kingston Grain Company of which he is a large stockholder and vice president, and which firm has an established business running well into the millions of dollars per year. This concern maintains offices in the same building with the F. B. Matthews Company.

Mr. Mathews is also interested in real estate in Greater New York and in construction work in the south and with the many duties involving upon him due to these varied interests, he has felt that he was entitled to let up some, and if possible be able to devote more of his time in enjoying the fruits of his labor than it would be possible for him to enjoy while retaining an active interest in the firm of F. B. Matthews & Company.

Mr. Mathews will be greatly missed by the old members of the firm and its employees on account of his genial manner and pleasant and tactful ways. He will also be missed among his friends in the wholesale grocery business throughout the entire state as during the past few years he has been very popular with such friends and has made very many acquaintances among them.

HOCMER BUYS INTEREST IN PRESS

An interest in the Ellenville Press has been purchased by Edwin C. Hocmer, Jr., son of Edwin C. Hocmer, superintendent of schools of Ellenville, and he will hereafter be associated with Louis R. Benedict in the conduct of that publication.

The Ellenville Press was established in 1870 by the Hon. Thomas H. Benedict of Napanoch and was turned over to Louis R. Benedict in 1887 when Thomas E. Benedict became public printer under President Cleveland. Gilbert H. Benedict, another brother, who had been associated with Thomas E. Benedict in the management of the Press, also left Ellenville at the same time to become chief clerk of the government printing office. Later the Press was conducted for a number of years by W. C. McNally, who sold it sometime ago to Mr. Benedict and retired on account of ill health.

Mr. Hocmer studied at New York University and has had newspaper experience on the Catskill Mail, Saratoga Sun, Middletown Herald and Canandaigua Messenger.

LLOYD-GEORGE, ILL, LEAVES FOR WALES WHILE BRITAIN MOST NEEDS A LEADER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 10.—Premier Lloyd-George, ill and depressed over the political situation, departed for Wales today leaving behind the blackest state crisis since war days.

Angered by the violent attacks of his Tory enemies in parliament, the premier is reported to have drawn up his resignation and placed it in the hands of Austen Chamberlain to be delivered to King George when the Irish Free State act is passed by the House of Lords.

Actual revolution is threatened in India. The government post secretary for India is still vacant. E. S. Montagu having resigned upon the demand of the premier, and it is virtually certain that the British viceroy, Lord Reading, will quit.

A serious situation prevails in Ireland where a large section of the Irish Republican army has revolted and has set up the cry for a republic. The rebels are rallying at Limerick and "peace negotiations" between the rebels and the British provisional government at Dublin have broken down.

The premier will be absent about a week.

VERDICT FOR KRSTOVIC UPHOLD

And Judgment Secured by Him Against Van Buren Company Is Sustained by Appellate Division—Private Contract With Kline Called "Shamefully Unfair to Honest Client."

The appellate division of the supreme court for the third department has unanimously affirmed the judgment for $2,655.38, obtained by Triplo Krstovic against Charles H. Van Buren and Samuel W. Day, co-partners, doing business under the name and style of C. H. Van Buren & Company, which was argued at the January term of the court.

The appeal to the appellate division was taken by C. H. Van Buren & Company from a judgment entered on the verdict of a jury in the Supreme court, in Ulster county, June 1, 1921, in favor of Mr. Krstovic.

The suit arose through the stock dealings of Mr. Krstovic with John D. Kline when the latter was conducting a stock brokerage office in this city as correspondent for Van Buren & Company. It appeared from the evidence that the account kept by Van Buren & Company with Kline was an omnibus account, and no account was to be carried in the name of a client. The contract between Van Buren & Company and Kline contained this and similar provisions for the protection of the New York brokerage firm, but was not known to Kline's customers.

When Kline failed to put up additional margin which was required by Van Buren & Company to carry on the accounts opened with Kline by Krstovic and other local customers, Van Buren & Company sold the securities which had been deposited with Kline as collateral by the customers without giving any notice to the customers.

Believing that Kline was acting as agent for Van Buren & Company, Mr. Krstovic sued the latter firm when he learned that his securities had been sold. Van Buren & Company answered that they had no account with Krstovic or any other customers of Kline, but that their account was with Kline who was their "correspondent" and not their "agent."

The language of Judge Van Kirk, who writes the opinion of the court, is particularly interesting on this point. He says:

"The defendants, knowing that their name was upon the door, that they were holding themselves out as the members of the Consolidated Exchange who purchased and sold stocks for the clients of the Kingston office, that the clients were not acquainted with the private contract for self-protection which they had made with Kline, knew that every client had fair reason to believe, not being warned to the contrary, that he was dealing with a stock brokerage firm, members of the Consolidated Exchange, whose character and credit were vouched for by the Exchange. The defendants knew that this private contract, by which they should have nothing to do with the individual accounts of the clients, should carry the entire account of all clients as one account, in Kline's name, Kline to deposit the margin which clients had deposited with him; and by which, if Kline failed to deposit sufficient margin for the entire account, the securities belonging to an individual client would be sold without his knowledge that his account was in jeopardy, although he might have deposited sufficient margin to fully protect his account, was shamefully unfair to an honest client; that their name was being used as a lure to entice clients to this office and subject them to this risk far beyond the usual risk of margin trading."

The Appellate division holds that the jury was justified by the facts in returning a verdict in favor of Mr. Krstovic, and it sustains the judgment in its favor.

The case was tried twice. On the first trial, the court dismissed the complaint, but the appellate division reversed that judgment and granted a new trial, with costs to the appellant to abide the event, on the ground that the evidence, including the correspondence between the defendants and Kline, presented a question for the consideration of the jury.

The second trial took place before Judge Hoffman and a jury in this city last May and resulted in a verdict for Mr. Krstovic, and from the judgment entered in his favor Van Buren & Company appealed to the appellate division. That court, as stated, holds that the judgment in favor of Mr. Krstovic is justified by the facts.

Throughout the litigation, Judge James Jenkins has represented Mr. Krstovic with Ex-Mayor William D. Brannin, of counsel; Van Buren & Company were represented by Sullivan & Cromwell of New York city, by E. H. Sykes, and Judge Clearwater of this city.

CATSKILL LIKELY TO HAVE KIWANIS CLUB

A plan is on foot in Catskill to form a Kiwanis Club there and the Kingston Kiwanis Club has been requested to assist. In response the local club has invited the leaders of the movement to attend its next weekly luncheon and will shortly afterward send a delegation to Catskill for an organization meeting.

Samuel Saulpaugh, the chain hotel proprietor, is acting as intermediary. He says that Catskill has recently grown introspective and had an expert diagnose the town's condition. This expert reported that the town was all right but that the people needed more "get together" spirit, and in an effort to secure this business men's luncheon club already has been formed.

The every member method of financing the church was adopted about ten years ago, and had proven to be very successful. Other churches have adopted that plan of raising the finances to carry on church work.

Preparatory services were also held that evening in the chapel, and Sunday morning communion service will be held (and an opportunity given to any who desire to unite with the church at that time.

The supper Thursday evening was the last of a series of church family suppers that have been held weekly the past winter.

FERRY CLAIM BILL'S HISTORY

Is Recounted by MacDonald DeWitt—No Pretense That Latest Version Does Not Create Claim Against State and County.

149 Nassau Street,
New York, March 7, 1922.

To the Editor of the Kingston Freeman:

I saw in a recent issue of your excellent newspaper that the Sleightsburch ferry claim bill is in again—this time in the guise of a proposed amendment to the state highway law. This is its third appearance.

Twice before attempts to mulet the state treasury by special act of the legislature in favor of the owners of this ferry have been defeated. In 1920, the legislature passed a bill the purpose of which was to give the owners of the Sleightsburch ferry a claim against the state for damage alleged to have been sustained because of the erection of the state highway bridge across the Rondout creek. This bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Walton and in the assembly by Assemblyman Van Wagenen. It was vetoed by Governor Smith, who said:

"This bill assumes to impose liability on the state for the destruction of the value of a ferry maintained by the claimants at Rondout creek."

Recently the state let a contract for the erection of a bridge at a point on the creek above where the present ferry is maintained. The bridge connects the state highway, making a through route from Albany to New York on the west bank of the Hudson river. The bridge is an important public necessity and I am unable to understand by what process of reasoning anybody can arrive at the conclusion that the state when progressing a public movement of this nature, providing free access to her people over a public highway, should be called upon to compensate the owner of a monopoly or private privilege to operate a ferry.

"This would establish a dangerous precedent and the bill is therefore disapproved."

Again in 1921 a similar bill, giving the ferry owners a special right to recover from the state damages to which they were not entitled under general laws, was introduced in the legislature. It was again fathered by Senator Walton in the senate and Assemblyman Van Wagenen in the assembly. It was "killed" through the legislature at the last session on the theory that it did not create a liability against the state for damages but simply gave the state court of claims jurisdiction to determine whether the ferry owners had a valid claim and, if so, to ascertain the amount thereof. But there was a joker in the bill which if it had become a law would have given the ferry owners the RIGHT to recover from the state as damages the difference between the value of the ferry franchise before the Rondout bridge was opened and what the same ferry franchise will be worth after the traffic has been diverted from the ferry to the bridge. After considering the brief submitted on behalf of the claimants by no less an authority than Justice Haskin, of your supreme court, Governor Miller vetoed the bill—joker and all.

And now in 1922 the same old animal appears but in a different skin. Having failed to get the claim bill enacted into law as a claim bill, resort is now had to an obscure amendment to that section of the highway law whereby commissioners appointed by the court are authorized to assess the damages for land taken in condemnation proceedings for highway purposes. There is no longer any pretense that the bill does not create a liability against the state. This act expressly provides that those ferry owners "shall have claim against the state, and the county for damages not only for land taken but for any injury direct or consequential," thereby giving these people the right to recover as damages the diminished value of their ferry business resulting from motorists in future preferring to use the new bridge rather than the old ferry—a right which the law has heretofore denied to all other claimants similarly situated.

I would like also to call the attention of the taxpayers of Ulster county to another point. Heretofore it has been alleged on behalf of its friends that the ferry claim bill would relieve Ulster county from liability and transferred the damage claim of the ferry owners from the county to the state. This argument was of course without any foundation either in law or in fact because without the bill the ferry owners had no valid claim against either state or county. But the bill as now introduced not only creates a claim against the state but also makes the county liable for whatever proportion of the damages the commissioners may decide to assess against it. How Senator Walton, who comes from Ulster county, can stand sponsor for such a law I cannot conceive.

I sincerely hope that the publicity which your valuable newspaper has given to this matter will destroy any possibility of this grab bill being hastily adopted in the last hours of the legislature and I wish to commend you for the public service you have thereby rendered to the public of both county and state.

Yours respectfully,
MACDONALD DEWITT.

SOLDIER DEAD NEARLY ALL HOME

When Cambrail Arrives Only 325 Will Remain To Be Brought Here From France—$2,000 Being Contributed In American Cemeteries In France.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 10.—The last large shipment of remains of soldier dead, returned for burial under the Stars and Stripes, will be completed when the Army Transport Cambrail reaches New York about March 30, with 1,224 flag-draped caskets.

After the Cambrail lands her precious freight, approximately only 325 bodies will remain abroad to be brought to the United States for burial. Up to March 1 the Graves Registration Service of the Quartermaster Corps had returned to this country the remains of 44,418 of those Americans who died on foreign soil.

Concentration of bodies in American cemeteries abroad will be continued, as about 22,000 of those who died overseas are not to be returned for burial here, according to the desire of their next of kin. The policy of the government is to remove the soldier dead from battle-field burial grounds, and to reinter them in permanent cemeteries which will be cared for by the United States, as are national cemeteries in this country.

"I am forever buying Shoes for my children"

IS the plaint of the mother who buys shoes on price, rather than on reputation.

We are constantly striving to bring prices of our juvenile shoes back to old-time levels. But one thing we have never done, and never will, is to Skimp on Quality.

And so, the complaint which heads this announcement—is less frequently heard from parents whose Boys and Girls always wear "Stelle School Shoes."

THE OFFICE CAT

By James

I know a man who smokes cigarettes so often
If every cigarette make a nail in his coffin.
The angels are shouting this very minute.
That very, very soon they'll have him in it.

Crowding The Quarters.

"We feel crowded in this flat," said the tenant, diffidently.
"No wonder!" exclaimed the janitor. "This flat was never intended for a family of six."
"But there are only myself and wife."
"I know better. Besides you two, there are a canary bird, and three goldfishes."

Any After Dinner Speech.

Mr. Toastmaster and Ladies and Gentlemen: The remarks of the speaker who just preceded me brought very forcibly to my mind a story which I once heard.

(Insert Story.)

"This being the case, therefore, you will readily realize my feelings when asked to speak here tonight. My emotions were those of the man who was once requested by his pastor to:

(Insert Story of the Man.)

"Well, those were my feelings exactly; only mine, I may say, were even more so. There is an old legend back in the country where I was raised to the effect that:

(Insert Legend.)

"Naturally no man who has been brought up on that sort of doctrine can aspire with confidence to any altitude records of after-dinner oratory. Perhaps I can best make my limitations clear by relating to you a brief anecdote. A very young boy once said to his father, 'Papa, why is it?'

(Insert Story of the Boy.)

"If I have made my position plain to you, the anecdote has served its purpose, and there but remains for me to say, in the apt and well-chosen words of your honored president:

(Insert Guff and Slush.)

"Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you."

Safety First

Mrs. Figgers (with newspaper): "Do you know, Henry, that every time you draw your breath some one dies?"

Mr. Figgers: "Well, I'm sorry; but I can't help it. If I quit drawing my breath I'll die too."

The person who gets kicked out of office should at least be given a bottle of liniment to rub on the bruises.

Down in Georgia a fellow rode 12 miles to "beat up" a telephone operator because he couldn't get a number. Up here in the north a lot of folks appreciate the Georgian's frame of mind, but they generally find relief in words instead of taking such a long ride.

REP'S MAP LAST LEGISLATION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 10.—Following a series of conferences of Republican legislators today, these important decisions were reached:
Abandonment of the tax of four percent on unincorporated business recommended by the Davenport tax committee, and the substitution in its place, of an addition to the direct tax of one half mill.
An investigation by the state board of regents of the school systems in the various cities of the state.

Abandonment of practically all other school bills now before the legislature, including the Meyer-Hyman bill, which would give the board of regents control over the New York city schools, and the Wright bill providing for an elective board of education in New York.
At a conference of Republican legislators it was found that not a sufficient number of votes could be obtained to pass the bill imposing the four percent tax on unincorporated business. It was, therefore, decided to raise the money which had been expected from this source of revenue, by adding the one half mill to the direct tax imposed for the state debt service. Many Republicans objected to the business tax because of the political effect it might have in a gubernatorial year. Last year there was added to the direct tax a mill and a half for teachers' salaries. This will not be needed this year and it was felt that the half mill addition could be added and still have the direct tax rate less than last year.

The decision on the school investigation was reached at a conference between Governor Miller and a special committee of the state conference of mayors. This committee had taken up the problems growing out of the increased cost of education, and the impossibility of raising sufficient school funds because of city debt limits. It was finally decided to ask the governor for an inquiry in the subject of the Board of Regents.

The governor said today he favored the inquiry, and a resolution appropriating $50,000 for the investigation will be introduced by Senator Lockwood, chairman of the senate education committee.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES FOR WOMEN IN MEXICO

Catherine Elizabeth Butterfield, who refused to be called "Mrs." because the title is "undignified" for a business woman, is in California for a short rest from her mining labors near Rosaria, Sinaloa, Mex. "If women want to make money, if they want to be treated with genuine respect, if they want to be happy and safe, my advice to them is to go to Mexico," she declared. Mrs. Butterfield has been engaged in gold and silver mining in Mexico for 15 years and is said to be one of the most successful miners in Mexico. She admits that the hands carried off her gold and silver but says they never touched either she or any of her employees. She is very strong for Mexico.

LINER WAKES WHALES

Boat Bears Down on Seven Giants Snoozing Peacefully on Top of Water.
Capt. F. J. Holland of the Pacific mail liner Cuba, on a visit to Los Angeles harbor, told a story of how he rang the breakfast bell for seven whales in the Pacific ocean.

They were big fellows, ranging from sixty to ninety feet in length. The seven were "knozzing" peacefully on top of the water as the Cuba bore down upon them. The captain said he didn't hear them snoozing, but he knew they were sleeping, because when whales sleep they ride high in the water.

Evidently one whale was afflicted with insomnia, for as the vessel drew near he shook himself into action and proceeded to pour water on the others. Aroused from their slumbers under the rays of the early morning sun, the seven whales scampered away, frothing the water with their rushes and seeming to protest against the rude steamship that had so suddenly broken their heavy naps.

STARVING ELK RESCUED BY TWO FOREST RANGERS

Tip That Animals Were Snow-bound Came From an Aerial Mail Flyer.

After an arduous trip of 50 miles into the mountainous region of the headwaters of the Duganess river, two forest rangers succeeded in releasing a herd of 50 or 60 wild elk, snow-bound in a draw or hole and which were on the verge of death by starvation.

By a queer coincidence, the H. H. Lord, carrying mail by airplane, passed Seattle and Victoria, Canada, coasted his homeward trip inland over the foothills of the Olympic mountains to avoid a strong gale on Puget Sound. Skirting close to the tops of the forest trees he observed the wild elk snow-bound in a natural inclosure of drifted snow. When he reached home he notified the state game commissioner's office of his belief, who at once ordered an investigation.

Alex. McPherson and George Gates of Quilcene, Wash., started at once over a well-known trail carrying provisions on pack horses. The 50 miles into the wilderness was made in two days and the elk located. The animals were being deep in snow, starving about, subsisting on fir boughs and moss. Breaking through a snow-drift barrier, the elk gamely followed the two men and their horses down the valley where grazing material flourished in abundance. Of the exhausted animals but two fell dead after release.

The brave act is being heralded throughout Midcoast fraternity and the two rangers will be presented with a suitable reward.
The Olympic elk usually forced by snowstorms and heavy into the valleys, but this herd bunched together in a sheltered hole and were cut off from food.

MILLIONS LEFT TO SHOE CUTTERS

Two Brothers Unexpectedly Inherit Vast Wealth.

NEVER DREAMED OF RICHES

Romantic Stories of Sudden Wealth Outdone When Two Workers in Shoe Factory Fall Heir to $5,000,000 Each—Will Continue to Work at Their Benches Despite Life of Luxury They Might Lead—"Might Buy a Car," Says One of Them.

Romantic stories of sudden and unexpected wealth were all outdone when two workers in a shoe factory at Haverhill, Mass., learned recently that they had fallen heir to $5,000,000.
"I intend to have the house painted," Patrick Canning, the elder of them, said when told of his good fortune. "That is the first thing. Then I might buy a car. I might—but again, I might not. I never owned one, and I am not quite sure whether I want it."

James Canning, his brother, and sharer in his good fortune, had a similar program. "It was all so unexpected, and they were so happy in their modest way of living they felt bewildered."

They knew that they were related to an Edward J. Cury, who lived in Kentucky. Years ago he had given them $20,000 and had enabled them to build their own homes and to have a small nest-egg. But they thought this gift was all they could ever dream of getting from their kinsman, who spent his time between Kentucky and Paris.

But Cury had other plans. His life too had been of humble origin, and he had a greater interest in his relatives than he admitted to any one.
It was only after years of hardship that fortune smiled on him. He had come to America 77 years ago, when he was nine years old. Somehow he had picked up an education at eastern academies and had started to teach school in New England.

Relative Never Married.

He obtained a school in Kentucky when the Civil war broke out. He hoped to make good, return to New England, and marry a girl he had met who belonged to a wealthy family.

He enlisted in the Confederate army and became a major. The veteran of many of the greatest battles of the war, he passed the girl in New England. But she could not forgive his service under the Confederate flag.
He returned to Kentucky and became interested in the drilling business. He piled up a great fortune. The correspondence between him and the New England girl continued until her death at eighty. But he never married.

Of the five grand nephews, only James and Patrick Canning survived. While letters from their uncle were not frequent they kept in touch with him, and upon the rare occasions that he did write he manifested a friendly interest in their affairs.
Notwithstanding they protest that his trust demonstration of affection for them was wholly unexpected. They anticipated some sort of remembrance, perhaps, but not as much as they received.

Never Dreamed of Wealth.

However that may be the fact is that Major Cury bequeathed to the two brothers his entire estate.

"We never were always done pretty well," said James Canning. "We live our health, and worked hard. The money uncle gave us many years ago established us so that we didn't have to fear poverty, but as for being rich—well I don't know. And he shook his head. "I'm afraid I'm too old to change my way of living. The children ought to enjoy the money, though. My boy is a shoe cutter; I don't know what he'll want to do. When the factory opens I think I'll go back to the job. I'd be sort of lost without it."

Patrick Canning was pruning a tree in his little garden. "Yes," he said, "I'm a lot of money. My wife and I probably will go away on a little vacation, but we'll come back to Haverhill. No, I don't expect to leave my present home. Why should I? It's a good place enough to live in for a good many years and why not now? We love it, our friends live here. Why should we go away and be lonesome and unhappy just because the world thinks we ought to? We'll stick here, my wife and I."

BAD LUCK WITH DOGS

Man's Thirty-seventh Pet Killed by an Automobile.

Roxer Gearner of Bloomington, Pa., has owned dogs for a good many years, but he has trouble keeping them.

His last possession was run over by an automobile before the other night and killed. Gearner commented that it was the thirty-seventh dog he has owned that has been killed or been stolen.

He recalled that five dogs have been stolen from him, six have been poisoned, four have strayed away, two have been accidentally shot, one got sick and died and the other eleven have been killed by automobiles, wagons or street cars.

Millions in It.
If the falls of Niagara were fully utilized it is computed that they would supply energy equal to 7,000,000 horsepower, while on the upper Mississippi 2,000,000 such units of work should be available.

The Library Post.

You get a book out of the library, and notice that some other reader has impressed on the author by underlining the printed text or penciling notes in the margin. Occasionally these show intense interest and deep thought. But librarians say most of the "improvements" are changes in punctuation. Some folks are so busy looking for other people's mistakes that they have no time for their own.

Your Sixty-Three Dollars

WE do not mean to pry into your private affairs, but have you any money in the bank?

You have. Perhaps only $100. The exact amount does not matter.

Taken all in all there are some 27,000,000 depositors in the banks of this country. These banks have invested, approximately $1,700,000,000 in public utilities securities.

That brings your financial interest in public utility stock at least $63.

That brings you down to a direct and personal partnership in the power company behind the wires in your house, in your office, in your factory! There are some 1,450,000 American citizens who had faith enough in the future of electricity to invest, first-hand, in the securities of the electric light and power companies. They were investors with vision. You are an investor by chance—but none the less an investor.

While 35,000,000 Americans enjoy electric service in their homes, there are still 14,000,000 homes in the United States not supplied with electric light, more than half of which sooner or later will demand electric service.

It is authentically stated that 1,500,000 homes, 500,000 factories, 5,000 churches, 60,000 apartment buildings, 15,000 theatres and 5,000 public schools must be built and wired immediately.

What does all this indicate to you?

Simply that the electric light and power industry of the United States is little more than at the beginning of its development and activities. It is seeking to extend its service capacity so it may care for demands from these millions of residents promptly and efficiently as the need or desire for service arises.

INNESS PICTURES.
HELPING CHURCH

In Tarpon Springs, Fla., Where Artist Is Spending Winter—Searches Notices By Saying He Likes To Break Rules.

Mr. and Mrs. George Inness, Jr., of Cragmoor are spending the winter at Tarpon Springs, Florida, where Mr. Inness has entertained a number of Ulster county visitors during the winter months. Among his recent visitors there was Herbert Carl of this city, who spent a pleasant afternoon with Mr. Inness at his studio and who received a much broader vision and keener insight in the realm of art as the result of his visit.

An exhibition of thirteen of Mr. Inness's paintings for the benefit of a Tarpon Springs church is in progress at Tarpon Springs this week. A similar exhibit was held at St. Petersburg and The Times of that place gives an interesting account of the paintings and of the celebrated artist's methods of work as disclosed by himself. It says:

The thirteen Inness landscapes which hang in the Florida Art school studio for a brief exhibit, are not finished, although they seem well finished. Even as they were being put in place and lights adjusted for the best effects the artist, George Inness, Jr., walked up to that live, free mood of nature. "The Windy Day" and with a small sharp pen knife scratched a tiny group of swaying wood in the foreground, and accentuated the church spire in the village far in the distance.

"My pictures are never finished until they leave my possession," stated the artist, who is undoubtedly the greatest landscape painter in America. "That Moonlight scene," pointing to a marvelous study of night light which creates a feeling of the mysticism and solemnity of the night, rather than a definite picture, "was exhibited in New York city under the name of the Red Oak. It was covered with warm colors. But when I brought it home I decided to cover it over and paint another. The canvas was good," he added whimsically, "but when I had painted the cloth over with black, the effect was peculiar. It reminded me of that quality of light which the moon at certain stages makes. So I decided to paint a moon in."

That is the story of the creation of one of the most beautiful of the paintings which the artist has brought with him.

And as the artist walked from picture to picture, the old definition of art which conscientious though often dull professors try to impress on the brains of idle sophomores, took on its true meaning, art—whose object is to awaken great emotion.

"All art must awaken emotion for good, that quality of spirituality without which the world would be unfit to live it," said the artist. "When the artist can't produce the beautiful, whether it be in painting or sculpture or architecture let him stop!"

A pastoral called "The Grazing Ground," hung on the north wall, sheep grazing peacefully on a green hillside against a luminous sky. A painting which reminds one of childhood visits to the country in early spring, when the grass is springy green and the clouds are rain clean and shiny and floating.

"How did you happen to paint it?" Inness was asked.

"Because I wanted to get that cloud effect and my subconscious self told me that sheep were the only animals which would go in the picture. I don't consciously think that sheep were the only animals. Although the hair of another animal would have been too short."

"And you knew that the light filters through sheep's wool, producing just that luminous effect which you desired?" the artist was asked. "Not consciously. In fact I hadn't noticed that the light came through in that manner until just now," he added somewhat in surprise. "I just knew that that was right. I never paint from nature, but from the subconscious—the heart."

Inness made the statement startling to a novice that he did not draw his figures first. They evolve from sketches of paint. Often the figures are scratched in with a knife or with the finger nail.

And rules? "I always try to break every one I hear about," the artist responded spiritedly.

It is futile to attempt a description of Inness's landscapes. They are things of feeling, they are expressions of beautiful, spiritual moods of nature by a master who radiates personality, great force and charm. Thirteen of the pieces have been brought to St. Petersburg through the efforts of Mrs. J. Liberty Todd and Mrs. Edith Todd Little for the St. Petersburg Art Club, under whose auspices they are shown. Some of them have been before placed on exhibition.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO- MANGAN

It is the Safe and Reliable Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years

There are "new styles" even in medicine. A new "fad" comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

Danger In Let- ting A Cold Run

Public warned to beware of a cough or cold, break it up at the first symptoms. When you commence to ache, feel chilly, or begin to cough start taking Hough's Cold and Grippe Tablets at once. They contain ingredients to help ward off Grippe and bad colds. Take two tablets at once follow with one every half hour until relieved. They contain no opiates, are safe for old or young.—Advertisement.

Have You Ever Thought

—what kind of a place Ulster County would be to live in if there were no plumbing conveniences in the houses? Think of the plagues, of the filth, of the unhappiness which would be sure to accompany such a state!

Then think of what an ideal county ours could be with every home comfortably and completely equipped with every modern plumbing convenience.

Better plumbing can do for your home what it has done for our city—MAKE IT A BETTER AND HEALTHIER PLACE TO LIVE IN.

Superstitious Islanders.
The inhabitants of the New Hebrides, composed of 12 large and 100 smaller islands, believe in witchcraft and all sorts of signs and omens, particularly of their departed ancestors and in gods which are thought to be incorporated in certain stones or animals. Every village has its dancing ground. Here the natives meet on moonlight nights and perform wild and fantastic antics to the booming of their deep drums, some of which, six feet or more in height and carved from the trunks of trees, are capable of making terrible noises.

Man's Record Taxi Drive.
Because it was too warm to travel by train an elderly Scotchman in London desiring to visit relatives in Somerset, England, hailed a taxicab. The ride averaged 800 miles. Besides a substantial fare the traveler gave the driver a 100 tip.

Right Idea of "Druggery."
The word of "druggery" still lies in the same old word, "druggery." For druggery is the doing of one thing, one thing, one thing long after it comes to be druggery; and it is this "one thing" that the druggery is doing from my chest, that concentrates me from my chest in druggery.—W. G. Gossard.

To Be Good Readers.
Well, gentlemen, whatever you may think of these historical points, the clearest and most imperative duty lies on every one of you to be assiduous in your reading. Learn to be good readers—which is perhaps a more difficult thing than you imagine. Learn to be discriminative in your reading; to read faithfully, and with your best attention, all kinds of things which you have a real interest in, a real, set an imaginary, and which you find to be really so, for what you are engaged in. —Carlyle.

Original "Bill of Health."
A bill of health is a certificate issued to the master of a vessel when clearing from a port. When no disease of an infectious nature exists in the port, the bill is known as a clean bill of health; if infectious disease is suspected or there is possibility of such, it is called a suspected bill, while in case of such disease existing, it is known as a foul bill. The expression "clean bill of health" is often applied to individuals, who, after a physical examination, are found to be in perfect health.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS THREE GAMES

Ahead This Week—Squad Leavers
For Ellenville—Senior League Games At Y. M. C. A. and Standing of Teams.

The Kingston High School teams will play in three games again this week when the Boys' Varsity plays the Ellenville High School Varsity at Ellenville tonight, the Midgets play the Nanapanoch Midgets at Ellenvville, and the girls' Varsity plays
the Middletown High School girls' Varsity in the local high school gymnasium Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The local girls scored a close victory over the Middletown girls this season at Middletown.

The boys left this city this afternoon in a bus under the guidance of Mr. Woodard and will return tonight. Mr. Woodard in order to prevent his men from going stale has been making a great many shifts in the regular lineup. Practice has been going on regularly in the gymnasium and all are intent upon next week's game with Newburgh Academy at Newburgh as this game decides the fate of the locals as far as competing in the state championship tourney at Syracuse University. Mr. Woodard will undoubtedly start the big game this evening as he did last week against Saugerties, with the second string men starting first. The first team will then be substituted in matters look away for the second line of basketeers. About twenty men made the trip this evening, including the Midgets. Mr. Woodard took with him Captain Dressel, Woodland, Anderson, Vogt, Schmidt, Robert, the Corrigan brothers, Bob and Nach, McFadden, Murphy,
Becker, Midget players, Captain
Decker, Hasbrouck, Stumpf,
Maroney, Scheffel, Brown, Merine
and Warren.

Thus far this season the Ellenville players won about sixteen straight games. Last week's victory marked three straight wins for the local varsity; the Midgets have only lost one game this year, and the girls have only lost one and that was not to a high school organization.

Thursday evening at the "Y" was again replete with the regular football practice in the gymnasium when the Senior League teams took sides against each other; the Crescents, minus the support of Captain Dol-son, suffered the chill of defeat at the hands of Smith's Wanderers, 36-21; the Rangers, minus Captain Bob Murray's lanky arms, lost the spirit of competition and the flambers dealt them a full house with the score of 21 to 10.

Burger, who has been unable to play for a month or two due to an injury received to his knee, was back in the togs and he played a beautiful game for his side both in scoring and general playing. His final tally was ten points, his floor game registering 100 per cent. Next to Butler in scoring ability for the Crescents was Fred Meeker with three field goals and three foul baskets. It is hard to say just what the Crescents would do without S. E.
Highmyer's star salesman, Charles Shultis, for he dealt his opponents just the same sort of treatment that he gives the dead beats, the sand bag first, questions asked afterwards. Noble and Coons played good floor games but they were not too sure on the passwork.

As for the Wanderers all was roses as each man made at least one field goal. Van Bramer led all this with five sinkers. Smith and Arthur Thompson read next in order with 3 points each.

In the first game 7 fouls were called on each team; in the second game 11 were called on each team.
The standing of the teams in the Senior League:

THE TWO DIMPLES

"Hello," said the dimple in the right cheek to its companion in the left cheek.

"Hello," said the dimple in the left cheek.

"How are you today?" asked the right dimple.

"Fine," said the left dimple, "and how about you?"

"Fine, too," said the right dimple.

"What would we do," the left dimple said, "if we belonged to a cross-patch? We wouldn't have any fun at all."

"What is a cross-patch?" asked the right dimple.

"Dear me, I don't wonder you ask," said the left dimple, "for you've never seen one and you weren't listening the other day when someone said just what a cross-patch is. You were resting, and I was, too, but I overheard. They were talking nearer to me, anyway."

"Yes, two people were talking, a lady and a gentleman."

"The lady said: 'How fortunate we are not to have a cross-patch!'"

"I didn't know what she meant, but as she went on talking I understood."

"Yes," said the gentleman, "we are indeed fortunate! It would be very unpleasant to have a cross-patch around the house."

"I thought then they must be talking of some kind of a dog or cat they didn't like, but no, not a bit of it."

"Our little Dorothy," the lady said, "is really never cross. She is always smiling and showing her two dimples. That is, except when she is asleep. She is sleeping now, curled up in that big chair as you see, but even when she is sleeping she almost seems to be smiling."

"I've known such cross-patches," the gentleman said. "They are awful. They're always talking in cranky tones; they're always complaining and whining; they're always wishing they had something someone else had. They're never contented."

"But our little Dorothy is different. She likes to show her dimples."

"So then I know what a cross-patch meant—some one who was cross. And I was glad to hear that Dorothy's mother and father liked us too."

"I often hear people talk of Dorothy's dimples and it makes me very happy."

"It makes me so happy, too," said the right dimple.

"Ah, yes," said the left dimple, "we are admired a great deal and it is fun to be admired, but if we belonged to a little girl who was cross—goodness, goodness, we'd always be frowning and never having any fun at all. We like to play and have fun, too, and Dorothy lets us have it."

"I believe I know one of the reasons," said the right dimple, "why Dorothy isn't a cross-patch."

"Tell me," said the left dimple.

"Because," said the right dimple, "ever since she was a little baby her mother and her daddy haven't always taken it for granted that she was about to do something wrong. They haven't always been scolding. Don't tell me as I've heard some people do."

"They've expected her to be happy and sweet, and so she has been. They haven't always been ready to scold her. If anything has happened they let her tell it to them just as it was and don't imagine right away that she must have been naughty."

"Yes, I do believe that the lady and the gentleman have had a great deal to do with it. A great, great deal. And after all, I think it is right that they should help."

"For they have been in the world a longer time than children, and so they should do all they could."

"Where daddies and mothers smile a great deal I've found that their children did too. There is something about smiles that is something like measles in that they're catching, but nothing like measles in their ways. For smiles are so pleasant. I love them, for then I get a chance to give a little love press into Dorothy's cheek."

"What is a love press?" asked the left dimple.

"A love press," said the right dimple, "is the same as a love pat only we press instead of pat. You do the same."

"Oh, yes," said the left dimple, "but see! Dorothy is waking up. Now for a good old merry laugh and some love pressing!"

"She is sleeping."

asked the right dimple.

PEANUT BUTTER GOODIES

Peanut butter is a delicious substitute for butter on bread, and also lends itself to many types of cookery. For a soup it is not only sustaining and wholesome but is ever ready.

Peanut Butter Soup.—Take one cupful of peanut butter, one quart of milk, one pint of boiling water, two tablespoonsful of grated onion, one clove, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, two teaspoonsful of salt, one tablespoonful of flour, two tablespoonsful of cold water, two tablespoonsful of finely minced green pepper, or one tablespoonful of minced parsley if preferred. Prepare as usual.

Peanut Butter Boiled Icing.—Boil one cupful of sugar and one-fourth cupful of water until a thread is formed, pour over the well-beaten white of an egg and add one-fourth of a cupful of peanut butter. Place over hot stove and cook until the icing is a little dry around the edges, then beat until thick and spread on the cake.

Peanut Butter and Tomato Loaf.—Put two cupfuls of peanut butter into a saucepan, add two tablespoonsful of cornstarch with a little water and add to it with two cupfuls of thick cut tomatoes, one and one-fourth cupfuls of bread crumbs, one and one-fourth teaspoonfuls of salt and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Mix well and place in a well greased mold and steam two hours. Serve hot surrounded with creamed peas or onions.

Peanut Butter Fudge.—Take two and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-third of a cupful of corn syrup, one-half cupful of milk and one-half cupful of peanut butter. Boil to the soft ball stage and set away to cool. Stir until creamy, drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper.

Ginger Cream.—Take one pint of milk, the beaten yolks of three eggs, one-half cup of sugar and two table-spoonfuls of cream from preserved ginger, cook all together until thick, strain; add one tablespoonful of gelatin dissolved in a little cold milk, and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Beat until it thickens, add four ounces of preserved ginger cut fine, stir and put in a mold to thicken. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Stone Kept Time.

There is exhibited in the British museum a large stone, composed of carbonate of lime, which has served as a natural timekeeper. This stone is, indeed, an actual time record for the work done for a long period in an English coal mine. The stone was removed from a colliery drain. When the miners were at work the water passing through the drain left a deposit colored black by the coal dust; but when no work was done the water ran down clear and left a white deposit. In the course of time these deposits built up the stone. Each day of work left a black streak, immediately followed by a white streak, and during the night. Wide white streaks indicate the holidays and Sunday.

Had Fondness for Medicine.

There is a record of Samuel Jessup, who died in 1817 at the age of sixty-five years, "possessed of a good fortune, notwithstanding a most inordinate craving for physic." In twenty-one years this remarkable man took 28,584 pills, gradually increasing the dose until 1816, when he was swallowing 78 per day. His record year appears to have been 1814, when he took 51,500 pills. The notice concludes, "Notwithstanding this and the addition of 40,000 bottles of mixtures and jalaps and electuaries, extending altogether to fifty-five closely written columns of an apothecary's bill of 65 years."—London Times.

Friendship Important.

To build life that brings joy to old age you must build friendship into the days as they come. Antagonism may compel attention from the world, but soon the world will find a way of avoiding your cutting power, and you will be left desolate and desolate to spend your declining years amidst hostile environments. It's too late to make changes when the building is almost finished. Changes can always be made but they are costly and often do not fit in well with the structure. Still if mistakes have been made, correct them as much as you can.—Girl.

Very Catching.

"Where daddies and mothers smile a great deal I've found that their children did too. There is something about smiles that is something like measles in that they're catching, but nothing like measles in their ways. For smiles are so pleasant. I love them, for then I get a chance to give a little love press into Dorothy's cheek."

"What is a love press?" asked the left dimple.

"A love press," said the right dimple, "is the same as a love pat only we press instead of pat. You do the same."

"Oh, yes," said the left dimple, "but see! Dorothy is waking up. Now for a good old merry laugh and some love pressing!"

"Gravitation Was to Blame."

"Why, George, did you make John fall down?"

"No," said George, "luckily remembering one of his lessons. 'It was the law of gravitation that made him fall. I only pushed him."

Summary.
Score at half time—Cohoes, 13; Troy, 9. Referee—Dovey. Timekeepers—Sheppard and Kelly. Fouls committed, Cohoes, 22; Troy, 21. Time of periods—Thirty minutes. Professional basketball has been temporarily suspended in the Albany armory court, according to an order issued by Colonel Charles C. Walsh, commander of Tenth Infantry and custodian of the armory. This is a result of the fracas brought on by Cohoes players in their game with the Albany team. Colonel Walsh stated that no more games in the state league would be played until those in charge assure him that there would not be an occurrence similar to Wednesday's affair, and if the players are found guilty of attacking the referee, they will not play in the armory again.

HALIFAX GHOST
FAILS TO SHOW

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Halifax, N. S., March 10.—All Antigonish county was discussing today the failure of the ghost to appear in the famous "haunted" house at Caledonia Mills last night when the stage was all set for him. Whether the ghost had cold feet or not, the fact remains that although Dr. W. Franklin Prince, the American scientist and his party and Alexander McDonald, the owner of the property and his daughter Mary Ellen, were in the house waiting eagerly for a "manifestation," there was not the slightest disturbance. Dr. Prince and his party were bitterly disappointed as they had counted eagerly upon the grisly apparition showing his hand.

STIFFER INDIAN
POLICY FORECAST

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 10.—A stiffened Indian policy is expected to follow the resignation of E. S. Montagu, secretary for India, according to opinion expressed in official circles today.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary for Ireland, is mentioned as a possible successor. Sir Hamar's office will be abolished when the House of Lords passes the Irish Free State act.

Apprehension is felt here that the ousting of Mr. Montagu may result in fresh disorders in India. The former secretary was very close to the Moslem element of the population. Dispatches from Delhi said that feeling was running high.

According to a Reuters dispatch from Delhi, the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, chief leader of the Indian non-cooperationists or Nationalists, is imminent.

Song and Praise Service.

An unusual service of song and praise will be held at Trinity M. E. Church on Sunday evening. The pastor, the Rev. P. C. Weyant, will speak briefly of a few of the great hymn writers. A large chorus choir will assist in the singing of some of the well known and well loved hymns. Mrs. Roy Wood, soprano soloist, will sing and a male quartet will also give a number. The service will begin promptly at 7:30.

TRUST CO. STAFF MAKES MERRY

The employees of the Kingston Trust Company and their friends enjoyed a jolly good time at Walter J. Neel's retreat on the Saugerties road.

Bowling has become a very popular indoor sport and as the Trust Company's male employees have become especially active in this sport it was thought advisable to make this the means of entertainment for the early part of the evening.

The first game staged was between five ladies representing the Central Branch and five of the Main office. Those who represented the Branch surpassed in skill and the result was a victory by fifty-three points. The Main Office then placed three of their best players—namely, Frank, Hyatt and Finley up against Davis, LeFoye and Miller who represented the Central Branch. The Branch again carried off the honors. It was decided to have a third game between the Varsity Mercantile team and the scrubs which resulted in a merciless defeat for the scrubs.

In this time the refreshment committee announced that lunch was ready and all repaired to the dining hall. A. A. Davis acting as toastmaster called on N. B. Hyatt, the newly elected chairman of the organization of the employees known as The Kingston Trust Club, to say a few words to those present. In a very pleasing manner Mr. Hyatt told the purpose of the club. He said that the organization was a purely business-like one to help the employees learn some of the technicalities of the banking game which necessarily could not be explained fully and sometimes clearly enough during employment hours. At the meetings which are held each month they get a chance to discuss questions which arise in their daily duties so that any doubts or questions can easily be eliminated. In closing he expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of the club members during his brief administration and pointed out the fact that Mr. Craig was the real founder and promoter of the organization.

The toastmaster then called on the former chairman, Mr. Craig who thanked Mr. Hyatt for his kind words and said that although the meetings of the club were strictly business-like in character he was sure that every member looked forward to them with pleasure and were usually rewarded by a good time.

The two remaining officers of the club, the secretary, Mr. Miller, and the treasurer, Mr. Finley, were called on and each expressed his appreciation for the club and what it was doing for them. The chairman then asked for a few words from Mr. Davis. He immediately thanked the club members for their cooperation in giving their time to the club so willingly. He said that the idea originated in the large banks of New York city, where because of the large number of employees, the club was able to be a very important feature of the bank and explained in some detail how this was done. Before adjourning a rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Hyatt for the enjoyable evening which everyone had enjoyed through his efforts.
